In the case of the FDA approved Juliet laser, this is certainly true. The Juliet laser treatment is the latest technology to combat vaginal issues.

Up until recent years, many feminine intimate discomforts were thought to be just consequences of aging and menopause. Many of these issues worsen over time and include symptoms such as vaginal dryness and itching, decreased sex drive or pain during intercourse, vaginal loss of tone or elasticity post childbirth, and urinary leaking.

The Juliet laser treatment is the latest FDA approved technology to combat these issues.

The treatment works by releasing controlled energy and heat to the vaginal tissue. This stimulates the production of new collagen. It rejuvenates the vaginal nerves and the blood vessels resulting in more youthful tissues.

The Juliet vaginal rejuvenation laser treatment is comfortable, actually there is no pain whatsoever. It is quick, about 20 minutes, non-surgical and non-invasive. It does not require anesthesia and there is no downtime.
